Remembering Glenn Miller: The U.S. Air Force Band in the Studio

December 2000 by Karl Winkler

It was towards the tail end of the Second World War and Glenn Miller's Army Air Corps band had been transferred to Europe, when the band started to feel the effects of the growing war. As a morale booster, Miller and his team started to plan a tour of England, and eventually the idea crystallized into the tour of Europe that became known as the Miller Murray-Metropolitan.